

A Ukraine-wide project to aid warfare victim families

Tetiana Kotseba, the Head of the Board of the Women's Federation for World Peace in Ukraine, has been leading the organization since 2007.

Mrs. Kotseba, being a wife and a mother of 5 children, established the Woman of the Year award, recognizing outstanding Ukrainian women during the annual WFWP International Conferences, which have been held in Ukraine since 2007.

Her active public service has been highly recognized and awarded by Ukraine's Prime Ministers, Vice Prime Ministers, Ministry of Defence, Ministry of Veterans, Heads of Regional administrations and city mayors.

The project goals:
to provide psychological, humanitarian
and medical aid to families who suffered from Russian military aggression
residing in the Kyiv region
